

OilQuick quality policy

The quality policy summarises OilQuick's approach to the term quality. The policy is key to achieving elements of our vision - to offer our customers a premium product in fully automated quick coupler systems and to be the best place to work in the universe.

Our policy is based on actual comments, taken from real life - simple quotes from employees, suppliers and customers that perfectly illustrate what we mean by OilQuick quality. OilQuick quality is something we create together.

"Great supplier. The welcome from the staff is a strong contributor!"

Our employees are our most important success factor - it is their skills that create a premium product. That's why we work harder than most on safety, well-being and competence. Safety always comes first. All our employees have a responsibility, mandate and freedom to improve our ways of working, as long as our core values and principles are followed.

"Strong product name and proven quality product developed over a long time!"

OilQuick has its ear to the ground and detects new requirements, future needs, trends and desires early on. Through a structured product development process, we prioritise the innovations we work on and ensure that they create added value for our customers. We comply with applicable laws and regulatory requirements.

"Amazing product made with great attention to detail and quality!"

We work systematically to continuously improve our product and processes. Defective products are stopped before they reach the next stage of the process. If something does go wrong, we learn from it and take swift action. We correct the mistake and prevent it from happening again. Where we need to compromise, or choose what to act on, we make informed and fact-based choices.
